- The third in a series of community forums on equity and access is scheduled for April 20 at 6PM. Be on the lookout for a link to attend. While previous forums focused on student and staff voices, the final forum one will invite parent voices. If interested, please email Bhuber@rjuhsd.us.

Learning loss mitigation:

- Summer credit recovery plans are underway and counselors will begin outreach for student registration.
- Each school site is working on some form of extended school year for students to fill minor learning gaps. Contact your school site for more information.

High school sports + activities:

- For indoor sports, spectators will be allowed to attend games starting April 15th. Based on the updated guidance from CDPH, RJUHSD gymnasiums will start with 100 attendees for each event. This will require advance purchase of tickets, assigned seating, physical distancing, and wearing a mask.
- Performing Arts has the approval for a complete return to indoor rehearsal and performance with the proper safety mitigation strategies in place. Performances will follow the indoor event and performance guidance recently released by the CDPH. Live Performance Guidelines.

Online learning option 2021-2022:

- If you are interested in a fully online learning program or a blended learning program through Independence High School for the 2021-22 school year, please submit this interest form by April 26th.

Academic testing:

- The College Board released their Advanced Placement testing schedule for May/June 2021, which includes three different testing windows. After considering all the options, the district has decided to administer AP exams during the second window, Administration 2. Most exams will be offered online, unless required by the College Board to be paper/pencil exams taken in person on campus. Online exams would be taken at home using the school-provided Chromebooks. Students who do not have reliable internet at home will be provided space at their home campus so that they can access reliable WiFi for AP exams.
